

THREE HURT IN TWO CRASHES ON HANOVER RD.

Two persons were injured when their car struck another vehicle, hit a bridge, then leaped a stream about two miles east of here on the Bonneauville Rd. at 6:10 o'clock Sunday evening.

State police said Lester E. Tuttle, 39, Hanover, was driving east on the Bonneauville Rd. when he attempted to pass the car of Kenneth R. Dengler, 47, 316 E. Middle St., as the Dengler auto started a left turn.

The fronts of the two autos collided and then the Tuttle car continued northeast and struck the side of a bridge wall. The impact caused the Tuttle car to spin around in mid-air and across the stream where it came to rest on its wheels on the eastern bank of the run, according to police.

Denglers Unhurt

The Gettysburg Fire Department ambulance was called and Tuttle and a passenger in his car were removed to the Warner Hospital. Tuttle suffered a fractured left ankle. The passenger, Dorothy Snelson, 26, Hanover, suffered a broken nose, a fractured jaw and lacerations of the right knee.

As a result of the impact, the Dengler car went into a field, but neither Mr. nor Mrs. Dengler, who was a passenger, was reported injured.

Damage was estimated at $800 to Tuttle's 1953 Ford and $500 to Dengler's Oldsmobile.

Two other accidents were investigated by state police over the weekend.

Call Two Companies To Biglerville Fire

Biglerville and Arendtsville firemen were called at 12:15 o'clock Saturday afternoon when fire broke out in some insulation at the Rice, Trew and Rice Division of the Inland Container Corp., Biglerville.

Biglerville Fire Chief Sterling J. Roth said the blaze was confined to a strip of insulation about two feet wide and 20 feet long. He added that the blaze had apparently started when a slight leak developed in an oil line and the oil soaked into the insulating material. Over a period of time the oil dried from the heat of the pipes and became highly inflammable, but did not seep through the insulation for enough to be seen from the outside. The oil-soaked section burst into flame at several points causing the sprinkler system to spray water over the area, thus holding down the blaze until firemen could remove the insulation affected by the oil.

Chief Roth said Arendtsville firemen were called immediately to help Biglerville because of the inflammable nature of materials in the building.

Pope Cancels Celebration Of His Anniversary After Court Convicts A Bishop

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Pius XII in an unprecedented action today suspended the celebration of his own coronation anniversary in "bitterness, sadness, and outrage" over the conviction of a bishop on charges of defaming an atheist.

The celebration was to have been held on March 12, the 19th anniversary of his coronation as head of the Roman Catholic Church.

The dramatic action was the latest development in mounting resentment in Roman Catholic circles.

Expressions Of Grief

The Vatican's brief communique announcing the Pope's decision said he had received expressions of grief and sorrow from many parts of the world.

These expressed sorrow over a Florence court's verdict Saturday against the bishop of Prato, Pietro Fiordelli. He was convicted on a defamation charge brought by a Prato grocer who professed himself an atheist and a former Communist.

The Vatican newspaper L'Osservatore Romano declared that members of the court may have incurred automatic excommunication for their action against the

Recover 15 Bodies From Bus Which Plunged Into A River

PRESTONSBURG, Ky. (AP)—Searchers swept Levisa Fork of Big Sandy River by boat and net today for bodies of 11 school children. Grief-stricken parents of 15 others killed in the nation's worst school bus tragedy began the sad task of preparing for funerals.

The 15th victim recovered was identified today by sobbing 18-year-old John Darby as his younger sister, Linda. Her body was found today wedged against a log about a mile downstream.

Grim search for the bus ended yesterday after 55 hours. The battered yellow vehicle, filled with mud, was dragged out of the swift waters yesterday by bulldozers. It yielded bodies of 15 students and the driver. Eleven others are missing.

Powerful currents had tumbled the submerged vehicle 200 yards down stream since it rolled in Friday after collision with another vehicle.

For some of the 16 families involved, the vigil continued. At least seven of them had lost more than one child.

One coal miner who lost a son summed up the general feeling of this small mountain community: "It was the worst shock I ever had in the world."

The body of the miner's son, 15-year-old James Ousley, had floated out a window of the bus submerged in 10 feet of water. It was then that the bus was located. Navy divers attached cables and two bulldozers hauled it ashore.

Institution of the Ladies of the GAR circle completes the list of GAR affiliated units here. Previously all of the GAR affiliates had units here with the exception of the Ladies of the GAR.

Mrs. McKenrick President

Gettysburg had a circle of the Ladies of the GAR for 49 years. In 1900 under direction of the members of the Corporal Skelly reposit of the Grand Army of the Republic here a circle was instituted and continued to 1949 when it disbanded.

Mrs. Maybelle McKenrick, who had been an officer of the original group, was elected president of the new circle. Amanda Walker was named senior vice president; Mrs. Grace Turner, junior vice president; Mrs. Dora Settle, treasurer; Mrs. Bess Kapp, chaplain; Mrs. Dorothy J. Pinko, patriotic instructor and corresponding secretary; Mrs. Kathryn Cunningham, registrar and secretary; Ruth M. Plans were made for a meeting of the circle at the GAR rooms Wednesday, March 26, at 7:30 p.m. in preparation for the institution service March 29 at which Mrs. Frances Kuhn, Philadelphia, department secretary, will preside.

Young Couple Killed Instantly When Car Climbs Embankment, Uproots Tree, Sunday Morning

William Philip Bushman, 20, Gettysburg R. 1, and Miss Sandra Jean Morrison, 20, Frederick St., Hanover, were both fatally injured at 12:15 o'clock Sunday morning when their car climbed an embankment, sheared off a stop sign and uprooted a tree near the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cochran, two miles east of here along the Bonneauville Rd.

Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams County coroner, said the two young people were killed instantly from fractured skulls and internal injuries.

State police said the 1955 Buick coupe, owned by Bushman, was demolished. They estimated the loss at $1,500.

According to police Bushman was driving east when he apparently lost control of the vehicle on a "dip" in the road.

Shears Off Sign, Uproots Tree

The car, which the officers said apparently was being driven at a high rate of speed, went off the north side of the road, continued along the muddy berm for about 50 feet, climbed a six-foot embankment, traveled another 40 or 50 feet, leaped across a 30-foot side road and snapped off the top of a stop sign as it did so.

The car uprooted a tree on the lawn of the Cochran home on the east side of the township road, shearing off about ten feet, and came to rest a few feet from the house. One side of the car was ripped off and Miss Morrison is believed to have been thrown from the vehicle. Parts of her clothing were found tangled in the branches of the tree.

Body Under Car

The car spattered mud 20 feet high on the side of the Cochran home.

When the car came to rest the front end was facing toward Gettysburg and a front wheel resting on Miss Morrison's body.

The front end of the car had to be jacked up to remove the body. Gettysburg firemen were called, set up lights, and used crowbars to remove Bushman who was trapped inside the auto.

Local Graduate

Bushman, a native of McSherrytown, is survived by his parents, William B. and Mary Ellen (Noel) Bushman, Gettysburg R. 1; a sister, Mrs. Mark Spalding, Gettysburg R. 1; his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Noel, McSherrytown, and his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Bushman, Gettysburg R. 1.

He was a member of St. Francis Xavier Catholic Church here, and had graduated from the local parochial school and from Gettysburg High School, where he was a member of the class of 1955. While in high school he had played varsity football.

He served in the U. S. Army from January to October, 1956, at Fort Bliss, Texas, where he was instructed in guided missile work. He was a social member of the Hanover VFW and for the last year had been a clerk typist at Letterkeny Ordnance Depot, near Chambersburg.

RATE BOOST OF 28 PCT. NEEDED BY BLUE CROSS

HARRISBURG (AP)—A top official of the Capital Hospital (Blue Cross) service, Harrisburg, said today the agency must increase its rates an average 28 per cent to meet increased costs of salaries and commodities.

"Between 65 and 70 per cent of hospital expense is in the payroll," said Clement W. Hunt, executive director of the service which covers more than 720,000 subscribers in 18 central Pennsylvania counties.

Hunt testified at the third in a series of hearings by the State Insurance Department on proposed Blue Cross rate increases. Previous hearings were held for the Associated Hospital Service of Philadelphia, and the Hospital Service Assn. of Western Pennsylvania, Pittsburgh.

Hospital Costs Up
"Hospital salaries and wages have been traditionally low and hours of work long," Hunt testified. "Now hospitals are finding it necessary to shorten hours and increase salaries and wages more rapidly than the rise in salaries and wages in the community they serve."

He told Insurance Commissioner Francis R. Smith that the cost per day of hospital care has increased 23 per cent since 1953 for a Blue Cross Class 1 insurance contract and 19 per cent for a Class 2 contract.

A Class 1 contract is one in which the subscriber pays part of his hospital costs, while the Class 2 contract provides comprehensive coverage.

States Opposition

The proposed increase was opposed by Reuben H. Miller, president of the State Employees Council, AFL-CIO, who appeared at the hearing to testify later.

"The continual rise in basic insurance costs is of grave concern to employees who are on a fixed salary and find their take-home pay diminishing with each of these increases in rates and for various services and basic costs of living," Miller told a reporter.

Hunt testified that hospital expenses for the year represented more than 93 per cent of the central Pennsylvania unit's income—$14,337,127. This compares to a percentage of 89.7 for the previous year.

DROP BOMBS ON MENADO

SINGAPORE (AP)—Indonesian rebel sources reported today that Menado, the capital of the rebel-held province of North Celebes, was bombed yesterday by two planes of the central government's air force.

Anti-aircraft batteries chased the two American-made B29s away after they dropped 10 bombs destroyed a bridge and strafed Menado airport, the sources said. Similar reports were received in Manila from Philippine newspaper correspondents in Menado.

The attack took place during a rally celebrating the first anniversary of the "universal struggle" movement headed by Lt. Col. Venje Sumual, the group leading the rebellion in the Celebes against President Sukarno's Central Indonesian government based on Java.

The correspondent of the Manila Times said casualties were light, indicating that possibly the crowd at the rally had not been attacked. Regular communication channels with Menado have been blocked by the central government.

Firemen confined the blaze to the western half of the 400 foot long building. They fought the fire about two hours.

Samuel Odell and Maurice Altschuler, Philadelphia owners of the plant, estimated there was about $150,000 worth of machinery in the fire swept section of the building. They declined to estimate the total loss pending a full survey.

Fire officials were not able to determine immediately the cause of the fire.

WILL SEEK TO IMPEACH MACK; WILL SUMMON SENATORS ALSO

WASHINGTON (AP)—The chairman of the House Committee investigating the FCC said today he will seek to impeach Commissioner Richard A. Mack, and that "certain senators" who intervened in a Miami television case are going to have to come before the committee.

Chairman Harris (D-Ark.) made this pronouncement after G. T. Baker, winner in the TV case rocked by charges of influence, protested that it appeared Mack was to be crucified while others escaped.

Baker demanded that senators and others be investigated for what he called their improper activities in behalf of a rival applicant for the TV license.

To Re-establish FCC
Harris told Baker he was going to try to re-establish the confidence of the American people in the FCC.

"Just as soon as I can get to it, I am filing a resolution bringing about the impeachment of Mr. Mack," Harris said.

Harris said Baker's statement was so strong that it appeared certain senators are going to have to come before the committee.

Baker, president of National Air Lines and its television subsidiary, had made his demands in a lengthy statement read to the committee.

"Very Revealing"
"You have made a very interesting statement, Mr. Baker," Harris said when Baker finished his statement.

"As a matter of fact it is like some other statements that we have received—very revealing, you have made a very strong statement, in fact."

Harris went on that Baker's statement "confirms that something needs to be done...You have stated that you wanted action and you're going to get it."

Mack To Be Pitted

Harris said he didn't see how anyone or any side in the Miami Channel fight could be proud of the gyrations that went on.

Harris said also that Baker's statement confirms Harris' comment of last week that Mack was to be pitted.

Mack has remained publicly silent since he told the House investigators last Friday he would seriously consider demands that he resign. The demands came after several weeks of hearings on the role played by Mack in the Miami TV fight.

Baker spoke of Mack as being broken and asked what about others involved in the case.

Kefauver On List

Specifically, he demanded investigation of what Sens. Kefauver (D-Tenn.), Holland (D-Fla.) and Smathers (D-Fla.) did in behalf of A. Frank Katzenline, a losing applicant for Miami's TV Channel 10.

Baker told the subcommittee several members of which have demanded Mack's immediate resignation: "The public of this nation will not be satisfied if this committee makes Commissioner Mack and Mr. (Thurman A.) Whiteside the 'fall guys' of this investigation while the senators involved, former government officials like Paul Porter, and powerful business pressures like Eastern Air Lines, continue their prowl in the halls of these agencies without punishment."

Whiteside is a Miami lawyer and friend of Mack, who has testified he made loans and gave other financial assistance to Mack.

Clears Col. Moore

Baker said National tried to get Whiteside to act as a lawyer in its television case, but he refused. Baker added, "If Mr. Whiteside then spoke to Mr. Mack in our behalf it was unknown to me and was not as our representative or attorney."

Porter is a former FCC chairman who was attorney for Katzenline in the TV case.

Baker swore that Col. G. Gordon Moore, Mrs. Eisenhower's brother-in-law, never "interceded in any case in any forum" for National or its subsidiary, Public Service Television, Inc.

White House Silent
The subcommittee received testimony earlier in its hearings that there were reports that Moore was "engineering" the award of the TV channel to National Airlines.

As the congressional hearing proceeded, the White House continued its silence on reports that Mack's resignation from the FCC had been asked.

Presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty fended off all questions about a Mack resignation and whether White House officials had put pressure on the commissioner to turn one in.

"I haven't any comment on it until I have something I can say," Hagerty told reporters, "and I have nothing to say at this time."

Mack, a Florida Democrat, was appointed to the bipartisan commission in July 1955 by President Eisenhower. A report that the White House had told him to quit was published by the Chicago Tribune.

PLANS READIED FOR BIG STRIKE

NEW YORK (AP)—Strategy was being mapped today for the first major strike in 25 years in the East's big garment industry.

It would idle approximately 105,000 workers in seven northeastern states, including Pennsylvania.

As the big union geared for a shutdown, New York's Mayor Robert Wagner ordered the city's labor commissioner, Harold A. Felix, to seek means to avert the stoppage.

Felix scheduled separate meetings this afternoon with union and employer leaders.

Advised of the city government's pending moves yesterday, Julius Hochman, general manager of the ILGWU's New York dress joint board said:

"This does not change our plans and preparations for a strike."

The Vatican communique said: "In the present conditions of bitterness, sadness and outrage caused to the Church in Italy, to the Holy Office, to its episcopate and clergy, and to its Catholic faithful, the Holy Father, who has received innumerable protests from all parts of the world, has believed it necessary to suspend for this year the usual coronation day feast which was to have been celebrated March 12 in the Vatican Basilica."

Bishop Forgave Judges
The bishop, Pietro Fiorelli, publicly forgave the judges of the court in celebrating Mass last night at Prato, an industrial town in central Italy. His attorney is appealing the verdict.

The bishop told the throng in the cathedral that the trial was a "sacrilegious and immensely sinful act."

"The first sentiment which comes out of my heart is a feeling of total forgiveness," he declared. "Like a father I completely forgive those who harmed me without knowing it."

The charge was brought by a 32-year-old grocer, Mario Bellandi, and his wife. They sued for damages after the bishop called them "public sinners" because they married outside the church. The court awarded the couple $672 in damages and suspended a $64 fine on the bishop. Payment of the damages depends on the outcome of the appeal.

MAY REVERSE DECISION NOT TO PAY CLAIMS

HARRISBURG (AP) — The State Justice Department turned to a seldom-used prerogative today and opposed another state agency's decision denying jobless benefits to a person who pleaded the 5th Amendment.

Atty. Gen. Thomas D. McBride said he was the "legal conscience" of the commonwealth and that he was duty-bound to seek reversal of a ruling recently handed down by the Unemployment Compensation Board of Review.

"It is not usual for the legal officer of a government to ask a court to reverse the action of the government's own agency or to confess error in the position previously asserted by the government," he said.

Steelworker's Appeal
McBride took his position in a brief prepared for argument before the State Superior Court in Harrisburg next week.

The appeal was carried by a steelworker who was fired for pleading the 5th Amendment when he was asked about possible Communist connections.

The board of review ruled that this constituted willful misconduct and that he should be denied unemployment compensation.

McBride and Deputy Atty. Gen. Harry Rubin said in the brief that the board was advised that a denial of benefits would be improper.

"The board disregarded that advice and denied benefits," said McBride. "It's action is contrary both to the statute and to the Pennsylvania and U.S. constitutions."

The Superior Court is expected to find itself in the position of hearing arguments from both sides that the Board of Review's decision was wrong.

Uphold Justice
Noting this, McBride said in his printed brief:

"The attorney general is not simply an instrument of the government he serves; he is also its legal conscience.

"Where governmental action is oppressive and improper, it is the attorney general's duty to uphold the administration of justice in the commonwealth and to seek reversal of the action taken."

The substance of the commonwealth's argument is that the steelworker exercised a constitutional right in refusing to testify on grounds it may incriminate him.

McBride cited three recent U.S. Supreme Court cases which he said indicated "an impatience with those who draw conclusions of disloyalty and the like from validly pleaded or asserted constitutional rights."

DRUG FIRM AND UNION SIGN PACT

RAHWAY, N.J. (AP) — Merck & Co. and union negotiators reached a contract agreement last night just before a midnight strike deadline.

The new contract affects 1,200 hourly employees here. They will receive an average 12-cent hourly wage increase and other improvements.

Employees here, 1,100 in two Philadelphia plants and 600 in the Merck Plant at Danville, Pa., had been scheduled to strike last Friday midnight.

However, the strike was postponed until Sunday midnight when the union—Local 13-575 Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers International Union—agreed to continue negotiations.

The settlement terms vary among the various plants.

The agreement here provides an expanded health plan offering major medical cost insurance, lower cost hospitalization, liberalized vacations, improved seniority graduations, on the job training and other features.

Wage scales here under the old contract ranged from $1.7 to $2.49 an hour. They vary slightly in the other plants.

The new contract runs until May 1960.

Solicits For Midget Type Washer-Dryer

CONCORDIA, Kan. (AP) — It cost Richard Patrick Ahrendads $50 and 30 days to sell chances on a washer and dryer to residents of his Kansas town—but police scratched their heads before they came up with a charge.

He was convicted of "soliciting and canvassing without a city license."

Littlestown residents paid $88,685.01 on the $103,670.80 tax bill presented them during 1957, according to the report of Tax Collector LeRoy W. Bish, filed today with the county clerk of courts.

Actually the residents of the town paid off $97,627.28 in taxes during the year. The 832 real estate owners and 1,765 assessed for per capita tax also paid $8,921.07 on 1956 taxes they still owed, with that figure included in the $97,627.28 total taxes paid.

At the end of 1957, according to the report, $13,388.17 still remained to be collected on 1957 taxes.

Cost $3.41 To Collect
The borough levied an 18-mill tax. The school board levied 30-mill real estate and $10 per capita taxes.

The report shows the tax collector received on 1957 taxes, in actual cash, $25,138.21 for the borough, $47,652.30 for the school board, $11,704.20 for the county and $4,190.34 for the institution district. Prior years taxes collected included $941.04 for the town, $7,571.87 for the school board, $288.27 for the county and $119.89 for the institution district.

The collection of $97,627.28 was made at a cost of $3,411.28 to the taxing bodies of which $2,903.22 was the tax collector's salary. He reported he had expenses totaling $477 in making the collection.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

Leader Omits Rice As A Candidate

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Leader said today it was "a safe assumption" that he won't run for the U. S. Senate unless Democrats slate a gubernatorial candidate from a list of four possible prospects.

He identified them as Mayor Richardson Dilworth of Philadelphia, Mayor David L. Lawrence of Pittsburgh, Sen. Cla. x (D-Pa) and Atty. Gen. Thomas D. McBride.

(Former State Senator John S. Rice, of Gettysburg, was not mentioned.)

The governor made the statement to newsmen as Democratic slatemakers gathered for closed meeting to pick a statewide organization ticket for the May 20 primary.

Leader renewed his support of Dilworth in placing the power and prestige of his office on the line in a new effort to draft the Philadelphia mayor for governor.

Newsman asked Leader specifically if he would remove himself from consideration for the U. S. Senate should the slatemakers go with a candidate other than the four mentioned.

"That's a safe assumption," he said.

Not a rookie but veteran Bobby Thomson, the hero of the 1951 pennant drive.

Bobby, 34, knows he's got to show big to play regularly.

"I'm willing to play third, the outfield or any place," he says. "I've got to get on the beam and do some work. At my stage in the game I've got to show 'em. I prefer the outfield because I figure I play better out there."

Manager Bill Rigney makes no attempt to hide his enthusiasm over Thomson's showing in the first week of spring training. The fellow whose home run beat the Dodgers in the 1951 playoff for the National League pennant has looked better than in several seasons.

"It's just the way he's swinging," says Rigney. "You know, he could be a real pleasant surprise once the season starts."

INDIANS NEAR PLAYOFF SPOT

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The improving Springfield Indians have just about clinched an American Hockey League playoff spot and are even making threatening gestures at third place.

The Indians, bolstered by late-season help from the Boston Bruins of the NHL, swept their weekend series from Providence and moved to within five points of the Reds.

Springfield, cellar occupants a good deal of the campaign, tripped Providence 5-3 last night after shading the Reds 3-2 the previous evening. The Indians lead the fifth-place Rochester Amks by eight points for the final playoff berth. The Hershey Bears maintained their slim grip on first place with a 3-2 overtime victory over Rochester while the runner-up Cleveland Barons kept pace by whipping the tail-end Buffalo Bisons 4-1 in other games last night.

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO
The New Court-house: Tuesday last was the day fixed for opening the bids for building the new court-house. There were some twelve or fifteen bids. Mr. Turner, of Carlisle, was the successful competitor for the contract, and has agreed to erect the building, agreeably to specifications, for $15,375 — receiving the materials of the buildings now on the site. The present Court-house was not included but will remain until the new one is completed, and the materials then be disposed of by the Commissioners. The new building is to be completed by the last of April, 1959. The commissioners have enlarged it about 15 feet beyond the original plan and it will now be 60 feet by about 102.

The anniversary of the Birth of Washington was celebrated with more than usual display on Monday last. The day was ushered in by the ringing of bells, martial music, etc. and the whole day appeared to be a gala one. The town was crowded by persons from the country, and then appeared to be very general hilarity and pleasure. The "Blues" paraded morning and afternoon and in the evening paraded of a supper at the Eagle Hotel — The Farewell Address was read in the forenoon, by Lieut. Fahnestock, and an Address delivered by Capt. Buehler. Every thing passed off very pleasantly.

We are pleased to learn that about five thousand dollars worth of Bonds of the Gettysburg Railroad have been sold to persons residing in the county within a few days past. There is steadily increasing confidence in the profit and safety of these Bonds, which will induce many who have money to invest at once to embrace this opportunity of purchasing.

After an unusually mild winter we had quite a cold spell last week by way of variety. The mercury on Tuesday morning was 8 degrees below zero being the coldest of the winter. It has since become moderate again.

Fast Work: An announcement in the Compiler that a Blacksmith in Reading township has made 120 horse shoes in one day has brought out a couple of mechanics, Messrs. John Winter and Thomas Elder, of Franklin township, who inform us through another individual that they made 80 shoes in four hours and 20 minutes and they think any person to beat that will have to work hard.

Today's Talk

THE STRANGER

I wonder why we look upon a stranger as we do, for a few moments might suddenly transform him into a friend. How many are the friends we have that we didn't have in many of the years long ago. I go over the names of friends who have meant so much to me, and how thankful I am that so many strangers have been made over into friends. Perhaps it all started in a chance meeting on a train, ship, or at a social gathering. No matter, just so long as the stranger became a friend! There are sections of the country where people seem to be so much more friendly — especially in the South and West. You feel at home where none seem to act like strangers.

How quickly we react to a newly introduced person! I like that line "from stranger to friend." Most of our friends come about in this way. From then on what a fascinating experience! Many of these former strangers follow with us to the end of the trail, and they are like lamps along the highway showing us the way to go.

If nations were not strangers with others, to the degree that they are, the story of international relations might be far different, and much happier. All nations should be the best of friends. It is to the interest of all to be just that at least. Under genuine peace all nations live, prosper and are happy — no longer enemies!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Famous Sleepers." Protected, 1958, by The George Matthews Adams Service

Just Folks

THE MAN I'M FOR

I'm for the happy man every time—
The man who smiles as he goes his way,
Whether he's up or whether he's down
I'm for the man with a grin I say.

I'm for the man who can bear his woes
With never a grumbling word or frown;
Who, smiling, gathers the rue or rose;
There is the man that you can't keep down.

I'm for the cheerful man, heart and soul!
His is the hand that I like to grasp
Who tunes his voice in a merry key,
Not fies it down to a bitter rasp.

I'm for the man who can take the cards
Just as they're played by the hand of fate
And good or bad, play an honest game
With a lifted chin and a smile that's great.

LITTLE CHANGE IN WEATHER PICTURE

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The nation's weather showed little change today, with patches of light rain or rain snow in scattered areas and temperatures around normal levels.

Light snow or flurries continued from the Rockies across the north central states and through the Great Lakes region. A rain which hit sections of Florida spread into parts of Virginia during the night. Showers sprinkled areas in Pennsylvania and snow flurries in the New England region changed to light rain in most areas. Rain was indicated near the coast from Virginia to Florida.

No severe cold was reported across the country, although readings dipped to near zero in some high mountain areas.

THE SAGA OF "BIG MOLLY"

By VAN VARNER

Big Molly was a legend in her own time.

She lived in a small manufacturing city of the Midwest — a town where everyone knew her or knew, at least, her reputation. As a reporter sent there in search of her story, I was not long in finding people who remembered her well.

"She was a real gutterbum," a policeman told me. And he had reason to know.

"She had the foulest tongue I ever heard — female or male," recalled a man who had worked in the same industrial plant with her. "It made some of the guys in the shop turn white hearing a woman talk that way."

The housewives I interviewed had a standard reply: "No decent person would go near her."

"A Synthesis Of Sin"

"Big Molly?" A prominent judge said, repeating the name to gain time for a judicious answer. "That woman was a synthesis of sin." Then he talked about drinking and rough-housing, illegitimate children, indecent public exposure, a wrathful temper. He mentioned Molly's prostitute mother and her husband, whom she had sent to jail.

As people spoke, a picture of her took shape in my mind. Big, not unhandsome, strong. She was boisterous and bossy, playful, yet sudden-tempered. Her walk, short and snappy, seemed to derive its propulsion from the half-mad-at-the-world expression set firmly on her face. As for her voice, you could have heard it "from here to the corporation limit."

Altogether, Big Molly was a lusty, profane, powerhouse of a woman.

For five years she had been an overhead crane operator in the local machine plant.

Fighting Mad

Molly was fighting angry the night she was fired, the night she not only let a lot of metal crash into a turning machine, but let it run on until the top was ripped off and he rest reduced to smithereens.

That was five years ago. After that, Molly seemed to disappear. Most people lost track of her, but she continued to live in the same town. She was living there when I found her.

Our meeting took place in a kitchen, a bright kitchen, bustling with women making sandwiches and stuffing eggs.

Outside, dozens of children were shouting at play, impatient to be off on a picnic. One of those kids was Molly's. His name was Dickie and he was 11 years old.

A Lifetime Of Poverty

It didn't seem possible that the woman making that pot of coffee was Molly. She was a large person, all right, and about 40 years old. But where was the loudness, the hardness, the animal vigor? Her words came haltingly, it was not an easy story. A lifetime of poverty; brothers and sisters, many of whom died early and unnecessarily; a father who deserted and a mother who was sick most of the time.

With little schooling, no church ties, and no family restrictions, Molly had matured early into a free-living girl who slugged at life and yelled loud for attention. And attention, to Molly, was the same as affection.

Dickie was the son of her short and unhappy marriage to Arthur Bemis, a laborer who sometimes worked, sometimes didn't. After their divorce, Arthur was supposed to send money to help with Dickie's upkeep, but there were long periods when he didn't, and Dickie would be taken away by the welfare people.

Struck By Illness

Then, in the worst period of all, Molly became ill, very ill. But just before she went into the hospital, a postcard arrived from her ex-husband.

"Dear Dickie — How are you?" That's all it said.

Molly got in touch with Arthur and asked him to come take care of Dickie during her hospitalization. Surprisingly he did, and the father and his six-year-old became friends.

One day the two of them were walking down an alley when Dickie spotted a playground behind a big house on one of the main streets. He wanted to rush off and play on the swings, but Arthur told him to ask permission first. There was a lady in the yard.

The Salvation Army

"Of course you can swing here. Anytime," said the lady. That was Dickie's introduction to the Salvation Army.

He went back again and soon was a part of the Army's regular play program. And when Molly came out of the hospital, a lady from the Salvation Army went out to see her and care for her.

As she got better, Molly came into some of the meetings the Captain invited her to — some of the Army's Home League meetings in which subjects such as child-care were taught.

Felt Strangely Alive

In time, Molly and Arthur and Dickie, the three of them, began coming into some of the Army's other meetings where they sang hymns and talked about religion. One night the Captain said to Molly, "Are you saved — do you feel the need for Jesus?"

Molly felt strange, peculiarly exhilarated, more alive than she had ever believed possible. Then, during the service, just when she was expecting something but didn't know what, Dickie went up to the altar and knelt there. It was not long before Molly was there kneeling with him, and then Arthur.

Since then, Molly and Arthur have remained. Arthur has a steady job as a maintenance man and Molly had discovered undreamed-of talents as a home-maker.

The Answer

What happened to Molly? Why is it that the only time she goes into bars now is to sell War Cry, the Army magazine? Why is it that people on the street say, "I don't believe it" when someone points Molly out as being the Big Molly? Why this startling change of personality?

Molly told me the answer in one sentence.

"I found the Christ that was in myself."

James MARLOW Reports

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — Are you expecting a tax cut that will put more spending in your pocket? Don't. Not yet, anyway. Not unless the recession gets a lot worse.

The Eisenhower administration takes a dim view of any tax reduction now, although President Eisenhower has denied that he considers it "a last resort" to be used only if other antirecession measures fail. Key members of Congress talk the same way.

One main argument for a tax cut now: It would give people more money to spend, thus increasing demand for the things they want. This in turn would create more jobs for people to make the things wanted.

Costs May Go Up

Two main arguments against: 1. The nation is in the somewhat ridiculous position of having a recession and inflation at the same time. Prices are not coming down even though unemployment has been increasing.

Therefore, more spending money, creating greater consumer demand, might boost living costs still further.

2. The government has record peacetime expenses, may have to increase them by big public works programs to create work and jobs. The government wants to meet expenses out of current revenue.

Possible Tax Cut

At his Feb. 5 news conference Eisenhower said a tax cut "could be" an antirecession weapon and would give the economy a shot in the arm, but he mentioned also the possibility of going too far. It added up to nothing firm.

When he met with newsmen Feb. 26 he was a little more to the point. He said there was a "possibility" of a tax cut if "there is any deepening of the depression that requires it."

But he appeared to regard it as something still far off. Secretary of the Treasury Anderson has taken the same position in a number of public statements.

Last week some of the most powerful voices in Congress — in the field of economics — came out for various antirecession steps before any tax cut is tried.

Wants Tax Cuts Now

They were members of the Joint Economic Committee, made up of 13 Democrats and Republicans from House and Senate. One member, Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.) was, however, emphatic in calling for tax reductions now.

The Council of State Chambers of Commerce and 11 Democratic state governors have called for a tax cut. But neither Eisenhower nor the Republican leaders in Congress were responsive. On the contrary.

On Feb. 18 those leaders met with Eisenhower and his key Cabinet advisers at the White House and came away brushing aside tax-cut talk at this time.

1ST COMMERCIAL COAL PIPELINE READY TO USE

By JOHN MOODY

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Trouble shooters believe they have the nation's first commercial coal pipeline ready to go into full operation after nearly a year of harassing delays.

The 108-mile pipeline runs between a Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Co. mine at Cadiz, Ohio, and the Eastlake plant of Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co. It originally was scheduled to open last April.

Pitt-Consol, world's largest commercial coal producer, has contracted with the Ohio utility firm to ship about 18 million tons of coal through the pipeline in a 15-year period.

Reluctant To Talk

Officials of Pitt-Consol have been reluctant to talk about the pipeline since they ran into delivery problems in the first attempt to move into full scale production. But in a very recent test the pipeline reportedly delivered coal at a normal rate for five full days.

Some sources working with the 12 million dollar delivery system say they expect the coal company to announce any day now that the pipeline is in full scale operation. Since first encountering trouble, new grinding equipment has been installed at the mine site to increase the percentage of fine coal going into the pipeline mixture.

Early shipment problems were blamed on the size of the coal being pumped through the pipe. Pitt-Consol said last April that a plug of oversize coal had blocked the line.

Cuts Transportation Costs
After that there were reports that station pumps wouldn't force the coal slurry up a steep hill. To ship the coal by pipeline it is crushed and mixed with water, then forced through the 12-inch line at terrific pressure. The new grinding equipment reportedly has removed many of the old problems.

Both the coal company and utility firm are interested in the pipeline as a means of cutting down on the cost of coal transportation.

Recent estimates were that rail freight rates for coal from Cadiz to Cleveland were $2.35 a ton. Delivery costs by the pipeline were estimated at $1.60 a ton.

SEEKING WATER RESEARCH UNIT IN PA.-N. Y. AREA

By RICHARD L. GRAVES

HARRISBURG (AP) — State and federal agencies have joined forces to press for establishment of a soil and water conservation research station in northern Pennsylvania or southern New York.

Ivan McKeever, state conservationist of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service, said his agency is preparing a report outlining the need for such a station in the northeastern states.

The report will be presented to the Pennsylvania soil district directors at their April 11 meeting in State College.

The Water Problem

"What we are seeking — and what there is urgent need for — is research on how to deal with the water problem in this region," McKeever said.

With a three-way competition for water developing between industry, population and agriculture, the need for such a station is apparent.

Serious droughts during the past five years — and a very severe dry spell last summer — have focused the attention of the state's farmers on the need for sound water management.

David G. Unger, soil conservation director in the State Agriculture Department, said support of establishment of such a research center has been promised by 11 other northeastern states.

One item of particular interest that could be undertaken by a research center would be management of irrigation water and its application to different types of crops.

With proper management, Pennsylvania agriculture could become water-rich. That is, it could preserve a large part of its annual heavy rainfall for use when it is needed most. Presently, most of the rainfall on Pennsylvania runs off during a few months in the spring when the fall is heaviest.

As farmers can testify in the drought-damaged southeastern counties, a wet spring is not enough to insure their crops against damage by a dry summer.

Recover 220 Bodies In Sunken Vessel

ISMIT, Turkey (AP)—Divers today located the bulk of the sunken ferry Iskudar and reported its lower salon is crowded with bodies.

The ferry overturned during a storm in the narrow gulf of the Sea of Marmara Saturday 15 minutes after leaving for Istanbul.

To date, 220 bodies have been recovered. Newspapers said the total dead might reach 350 or 400. At least 40 persons escaped. Officials said they knew of no Americans on the ferry.

The topic was presented in the form of a playette, when the Rev. Oscar E. Peeman, pastor of the Lutheran congregation, portrayed the minister, and other part was taken by Mrs. Gladhill. A panel discussion followed, with Mrs. John H. Hartlaub and other members participating. There was a meditation by Mrs. Guy McCabe and Mrs. Paul Chronister after which the benediction was repeated in unison.

Mrs. Worley, president, conducted the business and announced that the ninth annual biennial meeting of the Mercersburg Synodical Women's Guild will be held on Tuesday, March 25 in Heidelberg United Church of Christ, York. Sessions will begin at 9:30 a.m., 1:30 and 6 p.m. The speaker for the dinner will be the Rev. Dr. Reginald H. Helfrich and the theme of the meeting will be "Even So, Send I You."

Hare and family and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Yost of Littleton. They attended baptismal services for Christina Marie Yost, infant daughter of Clarence and Pauline Hare Yost, in the Catholic Church at Littleton.

MAY SETTLE GREEK CRISIS OVER UNITY

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—Some dissident members of Premier Constantine Karamanlis' National Radical Union party today were reported reconsidering their revolt, raising the possibility that the Premier might remain in power.

Karamanlis submitted his Cabinet's resignation to King Paul after 15 deputies from his party and two ministers broke ranks, dropping the government's parliamentary support to only 149 of the 300 seats.

Today, however, an authoritative source said four of the deputies had retracted and three more dissidents were "expected to return to the fold."

The source said if this happened, the King probably would not accept the Premier's resignation. Meanwhile, however, the monarch began consultations with leaders of other parties.

The two dissident ministers broke with Karamanlis over his proposals for changing the electoral system. They accused him of "antidemocratic methods."

The Premier in his resignation recommended that new parliamentary elections be held.

THREE CHILDREN IN ONE FAMILY LOST WITH BUS

By BILL HUDSON
PRESTONSBURG, Ky. (AP) — "All we have is gone," said a mother whose three children were among the victims in the nation's greatest school bus tragedy.

"They certainly were little jewels to us," said Mrs. James B. Goble.

The Gobles were one of three Floyd County families who lost all their children when a school bus plunged into the Levisa Fork of the Fz Sandy River carrying 23 children and the bus driver to their deaths.

Mrs. Goble is a teacher at a rural school on lower Cow Creek. "All of these children that were lost were good students," she said, "and she had taught several of them."

The Gobles lost their two sons, James Edward, 12, a seventh-grade pupil; John Spencer, 11, sixth grade, and their daughter, Anna Laura, 9, fourth grade.

John Spencer fell off a rock cliff two years ago and his left arm was amputated just below the elbow.

"We came so near losing him then, but the Lord spared him," the mother said.

Goble operates a store on U.S. Highway 23. He said one of the survivors, David Wright, notified him of the accident. Wright helped rescue several children.

The father said Wright came into his store and "I knew something was wrong. 'Bet,' (Goble's nickname), he said, 'the bus has run over the bank into the river and all your children are still in it.'"

Goble drove quickly to the scene.

Mrs. Goble said the children

WRONG COHEN IS FREED, THEN NABBED AGAIN

NEW YORK (AP) — Myron Cohen, the peripatetic parolee, is back in jail—which is probably good news to Sol Cohen, Sam Cohen, and Emanuel Cohen.

The story goes back to last July 15 when Myron, 52, a four-time loser, was being held without bail in a forgery case. Under state law, four felony convictions means life imprisonment.

Well, Myron was lolling in his jail cell when a guard called "Cohen." The guard meant Sol Cohen, 47, another prisoner whose bail of $500 had just been posted by a brother, Emanuel.

Well, Sol didn't hear the guard, but Myron did. He walked out of Brooklyn's city prison, a free man. He hitched a ride with Emanuel Cohen of old people. Of course, Emanuel didn't know who Myron was. He was just being helpful.

"Slams The Door"
Myron had given police a Brooklyn address before his walkout. Detectives rushed there—only to be confronted by Sam Cohen, no kith or kin of Myron. Sam slammed the door on the officers. The months went by, but the ELKTON, Md. (AP) — Author Grace Metalious and her agent Thomas J. Martin repeated their marriage vows in the quiet parlor of a retired minister Friday night, then headed for a honeymoon in New York.

The bride, 33, author of the controversial best-selling novel "Peyton Place," and Martin, 33, a former disk jockey, were married by the Rev. Walter Schaefer, a retired Holiness Christian minister.

After the ceremony, the couple drove to Baltimore where they boarded a plane for New York. They will make their home at Gilmantown, N.H., about 20 miles north of Concord.

The bride wore a light grey suit and carried a small bouquet of red roses. Martin was attired in a grey suit.

MORE YANKEES THAN EVER TO GO TO EUROPE

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — More Americans than ever are expected to visit Europe in this last season before the jet age.

But travel agents say that the individual tourist is cost conscious in this slump period and is likely to spend less abroad. And the coming of jets to the transatlantic airlines next year may change travel patterns further.

The Department of Commerce notes that "travel expenditures continue to rise relative to U.S. disposable income" and doubts that the business slump will bring a drop in the total flow of dollars to other lands.

Three Stimulants
A American Express, on the strength of a survey of 34 key tourist centers in Europe as to advance bookings and of 33 travel sales offices in America as to tourist plans, predicts European travel will be 1 per cent higher than last year, bringing the expected total to 660,000.

The increase is believed due to three stimulants this year: the Lourdes Lourdes Centennial, Brussels World's Fair and the new economy air fares effective next month. There is also a jump in interest in music festivals in Salzburg, Edinburgh, Bayreuth as well as in Brussels.

The International Air Transport Assn. reports the 16 scheduled airlines flying the Atlantic plan to increase passenger capacity by 20 per cent during the peak travel season. Last year planes carried a little more than one million passengers across the Atlantic.

May Spend Less
The Transatlantic Steamship Passenger Conference reports the 27 surface ships on the route carried about the same number.

The balance of payments group of the National Foreign Trade Council predicts American travel spending abroad will continue at a high level.

But the American Express survey indicates that per capita spending may be lower. Clients of travel agencies are asking for shorter stays in expensive cities and more days where the dollar goes farther.

Boston reports strong interest in bargain purchases in out of way places. Travelers are getting more sophisticated about prices. St. Louis says clients are settling for lower quality hotels in the more expensive cities. So do agencies in Minneapolis, Atlanta, Baltimore, Cleveland, New York and Milwaukee.

Both European and American offices look for a boom in self drive car hire. Estimates abroad of the increase run from 5 to 50 per cent. Country hotels, inns, motels and restaurants expect to cater to about 150,000 motoring Americans.

Advance hotel bookings in 31 European cities are reported by American Express as sizably higher than a year ago. Other cities report them about the same as last year.

Paris is counting on 420,000 Americans this year. Brussels

400,000; Rome 313,000 and London looked for in Madrid, Amsterdam, Venice, Florence, Naples and Copenhagen.

New York expects to play host to most of these tourists going and returning. But next year the arrival of jet airliners on the transatlantic scene may make a difference.

Walter H. Johnson Jr., vice president of American Airlines, which has no Atlantic route, tells the National Assn. of Travel Organizations that the new planes will put European tourist or business centers within the reach of major U.S. inland cities as take-off points.

Reds Break Their Promise To Return Kidnap Persons

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP)—A six-hour Allied-Communist meeting on the possible return of two Germans and two Americans held in North Korea ended in a deadlock today over Red demands for negotiations between governments.

The Communists flatly rejected a U.N. Command proposal that the two American pilots and two West German passengers of the South Korean commercial airliner held in North Korea since Feb. 16 be handed over at once to U.S. and West German diplomatic representatives present at a meeting of secretaries of the Allied-Red truce commission.

Seek Recognition
The North Koreans demanded that arrangements first be worked out by meetings between officials of the United States, West Germany and North Korea, which would like to get recognition in any form from the Western powers.

After arguments lasting into the night, U.S. Navy Capt. George W. Kehl, the U.N. representative, told the Reds the Allied side "has no intention to arrange a political meeting between government representatives."

The session adjourned indefinitely.

The Communists also refused to treat with representatives of the South Korean Red Cross concerning the 30 Korean passengers on the plane.

Must Await Red Call
Kehl told newsmen he had no idea what the next step would be. He said the Allies would wait until the Communists call another meeting. Today's was called by the U.N. Command to test the Communist intentions.

Kehl said the Allies would be willing to have another armistice commission meeting at any time on conditions that the plane personnel be handed over at the meeting itself and the Communists agree to acceptance of the two Americans by accredited representatives of the U. S. government, the Germans by representatives of West Germany and Koreans wishing to return South by officials of the South Korean Red Cross.

A third stipulation is that there shall be no political discussions between North Korean government representatives and representatives of the United States and West Germany and the South Korean Red Cross.

WANT 3 YANKS PUNISHED FOR ABUSING BOY

SEOUL (AP)—The South Korean Home Ministry demanded punishment today of three Americans it named as tormentors of a 14-year-old Korean thief who was beaten and nailed into a small wooden box last week.

A ministry spokesman said a "strong protest" note was sent the U.S. Army via the Korean Foreign Ministry and the U.S. Embassy.

The U.S. Army announced the Korean shoeshine boy, Kim Choon Il, is beginning "a new life full of love and hope" at an American-supported orphanage near Ascom. The Army had said he was caught stealing at the U.S. Army flight center there.

No U. S. Comment

The Korean government demanded punishment for Maj. Thomas James, Plymouth, Pa.; Capt. Marvin E. Kemp, Kilmichael, Miss.; and M. Sgt. Robert E. Weidensaul, Pottstown, Pa.

The Army had no comment and would not say if charges would be filed against them.

Kim said that after he was caught, Kemp hit him several times and stabbed him three times on the knees and arm with a fruit knife. The Army admitted that the boy was put in a box 39½ inches by 16½ by 13 inches, nailed down the lid and that James then flew the box in a helicopter to Uijongbu, 25 miles away.

SEEK JURY IN MURDER TRIAL

SANFORD, N.C. (AP)—Selection of a jury begins here today in the trial of Frank Edward Wetzel, 36, Seneca Falls, N. Y., resident charged with murder in the pistol slaying of state highway patrolman J. T. Brown.

Wetzel already is serving life for slaying another highway patrolman, Wister Lee Reese, the same night of last Nov. 5 in a separate incident 60 miles away. He was convicted of murder in that case, but the jury recommended mercy, making the life sentence mandatory. The patrolmen were slain by a motorist they stopped for speeding.

Wetzel escaped last October from mental hospital in Willard, N.Y., where he had been undergoing observation as a parole violator. Officials there said he told inmates he would escape and go to Mississippi to free his brother, William, who was under death sentence for killing another prisoner. William has since been executed.

MAY RESTRICT ADMITTANCE TO U. S. COLLEGES

CHICAGO (AP)—The nation's educators, foreseeing colleges filled to capacity in a few years, today tackled the problem of deciding who shall be admitted and who shall be turned away.

There appeared little or no hope of finding an answer that would please everyone.

A Florida educator summed up his views: "Not all the students who desire to go to college can or should be admitted. Living in a democracy does not in itself confer the right to a college degree."

The pressures will become so great that there can be little justification for admitting college students who are not qualified to carry college work successfully."

J. B. Culpepper, executive director, institutions of higher learning, Board of Control, Tallahassee, told the 13th Conference on Higher Education there is no easy way to separate the wheat from the chaff. He said high school grades are probably the best single indication of a student's potential, but that other factors must be considered.

There must be new tests, he declared, to determine a student's intellectual curiosity, his creative ability, his ability and his motivation. Above all, he said, "judgment, common sense and flexibility must prevail."

Culpepper said the nation's college population would double by 1970 — from three to six million, at the same time that parents are demanding more and more that their children be given the best possible education.

To meet what he called the greatest challenge American education has ever faced, he said, present institutions must be expanded and new institutions built. New teachers also must be found, he said, and new techniques and methods must be explored.

SCOFFS AT RED MISSILE POWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Earle E. Partridge says it probably will be "some years" before the Soviet Union has enough long-range missiles to launch a successful attack against North America.

Partridge, head of the Continental Air Defense Command, said that despite Soviet claims, he does not believe they now have an operational intercontinental ballistic missile.

Partridge and Gen. Thomas S. Power, chief of the Strategic Air Command, participated in a television program surveying air defense.

Power said he thinks that even in case of a Soviet ICBM attack, a 15-minute advance warning is "technically feasible." SAC has a goal of getting a third of its bombers into the air within 15 minutes of a warning.

Partridge said the North American civilization could survive even a massive H-bomb attack, although he said it would "take many generations to come back."

MAJOR BORING IS PROMOTED

Major James Boring, a United States Army Reserve officer, was presented with his reserve promotion to the rank of lieutenant colonel (Infantry), USAR, at a meeting of Adams County Chapter No. 1, Department of Pennsylvania, Reserve Officers' Association, at a meeting Friday evening in the ROTC classroom at Gettysburg College. The commission was presented by Lt. Col. Robert Beechiner of the ROTC staff.

In addition to Reserve officers from the area, active duty personnel from the college ROTC staffs were in attendance. The purpose of the meeting was to permit the members of the ROTC staff to become better acquainted with members of the local Reserve Officers' Association and the college faculty and administration.

Lt. Col. George Hikes announced plans to launch a membership drive for the ROA and urged interested reserve and retired officers to contact him or Col. Beechiner, PMST at the college.

Col. John Hayes, a student at the Army War College at Carlisle, was the speaker for the evening. He talked on the responsibility of the Army Chemical Corps. Col. Hayes received his commission through the ROTC program and holds a Ph.D. in Biology. He was formerly commanding officer of Fort Detrick for four years.

The ROA chapter presented its charter which will be displayed in the ROTC trophy room at the college.

NAVY BAND GOES NATIVE; BEATS OLD OIL DRUMS

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—What may be the first "All American" steel band will make its North American debut at Chicago before the year is out.

That is the word from the 10th Naval District here, where a group of United States sailors have mastered the peculiar art of making music from steel oil drums.

It all started when somebody found out that by putting dents of different sizes in the top of a 55-gallon drum you could get several different notes out of one drum. By trial and error, Trinidadians found that by using the whole drum a deep bass was achieved; that by cutting it in various lengths the range of the notes could be changed.

Drum Has 24 Notes

Progress was continuous—and today the "ping pong drum"—which carries the melody—has a range of 24 notes. The range of a complete set of drums covers four octaves.

Last February, Rear Adm. Daniel V. Gallery, commandant of the 10th Naval District here, visited Trinidad at carnival time. He was so taken by the music of the steel drums he ordered a set. When the drums were ready, he ordered the Navy's band here to go to Trinidad for a week and learn to play them.

Even though many thought a week would not be enough, the boys did well. Upon their return, they began appearing at Navy benefits and charity affairs outside the base. They have been a howling success.

Now they are about ready to go to the States, probably to Chicago, but the date has not been fixed.

Plays All Kinds Of Music

The band plays all kinds of music, from the West Indian calypso to slow "boleros" and foxtrots. Even "From the Halls of Montezuma" has been played by the band to a calypso-like rhythm.

Leader of the band is Chief Musician Charles A. Roeper of Butler, Pa. He plays the "ping pong drum," which carries the tune. He sees "a great possibility that steel bands will increase not only in Puerto Rico, but also on the mainland."

"Lots of people will be sold on the idea," he says. "It's fun to play the steel drums. The music is popular and the instruments are inexpensive and easy to make. It's a natural for high school bands."

The campaign for funds in Adams County coincides with the fund appeal by the Red Cross chapters across the nation and President Eisenhower headed the list of national figures who have added their voices to appeals for help for the Red Cross in its disaster service, help for servicemen and veterans, its first aid, home nursing and water safety courses in addition to the other local services that are part of the Red Cross program.

BULLS NAB BULL

BALTIMORE (AP)—There was no one around to shout "Ole!" but patrolmen Walter Sheppard and Hallam Evans finally subdued the one-ton Brahma bull in a clearing of Washington Boulevard.

The police fired away with revolver and 30-30 rifle as the enraged animal charged their car again and again, but bullets bounced off his tough hide. They finally brought him down, after using about 50 bullets.

member of the U. S. Navy stationed at Bainbridge, Md., suffered lacerations of the head when a car he was driving overturned when it failed to negotiate a curve.

Diaz, police said, was in Hanover on a weekend pass from Bainbridge, visiting with a sailor "buddy" who resides there. The officers said Diaz was drinking in McSherrystown, came out of the tavern, and stole a 1953 Chevrolet sedan owned by E. Burnell Warner, 215 North St., McSherrystown, parked across from the tavern. Diaz had traveled about two miles when he lost control of the car, it left the road, went down into a four-foot ditch and flipped over onto its top. Gettysburg firemen, summoned with the ambulance, had to pry Diaz out of the car.

After treatment for his injuries, he was brought before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder here and charged with stealing a car. In default of bail he was placed in the Adams County jail.

The car owned by Warner was reported as demolished with police estimating the damage at $675.

Cars Sideswiped
Sunday afternoon at 1:40 o'clock two cars sideswiped 2½ miles south of here on the Emmitsburg Rd. Police said no one was injured and damage was estimated at $350. According to the officers Lawrence R. Johnson, 17, Gettysburg, was driving a Dodge coupe south, and attempted to pass some vehicles ahead of him. As he did so, his car sideswiped a northbound Ford sedan driven by T. M. Leonard, 20, Elizabeth, N. J., a student at Mt. St. Mary's College.

MENSHIKOV IN SESSION WITH IKE HALF HOUR

WASHINGTON (AP)—Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov met for 30 minutes today with President Eisenhower and reported afterward they had a very useful conversation.

Menshikov brushed aside questions about whether his call dealt with a summit conference.

Soviet sources said that Menshikov met with Eisenhower for the second time in three weeks to discuss the Kremlin's proposal for an East-West foreign ministers meeting in April.

Some Blunt Talk

The Soviet ambassador, who went to the White House alone, hinted that Eisenhower talked bluntly with him about Soviet problems with the West.

"I found the President looking healthy, and he's very cheerful," Menshikov said.

"He's frank and straightforward and openhearted — qualities we Russians like."

Secretary of State Dulles also sat in on the meeting.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said after Menshikov left that the White House had nothing to say at this time about his visit.

Menshikov also fended off questions about whether he left any notes with the President.

Dulles left the White House by a side door while newsmen were questioning Menshikov.

The White House stressed that the Soviet envoy asked for the appointment before the Kremlin sent a note Friday proposing a foreign ministers conference in April to pave the way for an East-West summit meeting.

Expect No Serious Floods In State

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Federal State Flood Forecasting Service predicted today that remaining snow cover in Pennsylvania would run off without any significant flooding of rivers or large streams.

The Weather Bureau released these predicted Susquehanna River stages for tomorrow, flood stages second:

Wilkes-Barre 11 feet, 22 feet; Williamsport 7½ feet, 20 feet; Gettysburg 7 feet, 16 feet; Harrisburg 8½ feet, 17 feet.

Four cups of shredded cabbage will yield about 2 cups after cooking. This applies to both the red and green varieties.

TRADING IS DULL
NEW YORK (AP)—Stock market prices moved ahead slightly in dull trading early today.

Most changes among key stocks were narrow but the range of advances went to about a point.

The market was continuing Friday's moderate advance. While continued public concern was being shown over the business recession there were some slightly favorable weekend developments. They included some signs of improvement reported by steel producers and reports of expected quick action by the Senate to spur home building.

The fat and solid particles remaining in the pan after cooking meat or poultry are called drippings.

NEW YORK (AP)—Irene Arzedi and her fiancé Joseph Pinto say they are "definitely going to get married" despite the girl's cross-country walkout on their scheduled wedding nine days ago.

Why she chose a bus ride to Los Angeles instead of marriage to Pinto, Miss Arzedi wasn't quite sure when she got back to New York yesterday.

"I was in a daze half the time," she told detectives at a Brooklyn police station.

"Personal Reasons"

In a barely audible voice, Miss Arzedi said she had left for "personal reasons."

"I was afraid to call mother. I was mixed up about a lot of things. I'm very sorry for all the trouble I caused," she said.

Her mysterious disappearance Feb. 22 — just five hours before her wedding — caused an extensive police hunt.

As the 29-year-old woman and her happy mother stepped from a police car into their Brooklyn apartment house, a big crowd that had been waiting in the street let out a cheer.

Miss Arzedi told police she had $150 the day she left home.

She told newsmen that she bought a suitcase and some lingerie in a department store and then went to the bus terminal.

She couldn't give any reasons why she chose Los Angeles. She left on the bus about 10:30 Saturday night, she said.

She said that after arriving at Los Angeles last Wednesday she stayed a couple of hours, then bought a return ticket for New York.

BUSINESS NOT GOOD, NOT BAD, SURVEY SHOWS

By STERLING F. GREEN
WASHINGTON (AP)—How's business? Not bad, really; lots of dollars changing hands. But not good either, because the trends are wrong.

Unemployment is going uphill, production downhill. Signs of the promised summer recovery are not yet visible.

There is neither pessimism nor panic in the land. But an Associated Press survey in every state and major city suggests that the personal problems of 4½ million jobless breadwinners — probably now — are sending chill ripples throughout the economy.

Hospital Bills Rough
For this series of reports on the economic state of the nation, AP men interviewed a cross-section — bankers and jobless janitors, Chamber of Commerce boosters and corner storekeepers. Here's a sampling of what they heard:

"They don't look scared, just a little surprised that getting another job is tougher than it used to be." — An employment office director, Little Rock, Ark.

"The hospital bills are killing us. I don't know if I can save the house. Last month I had a hell of a time meeting the payments." — A former $9,000-a-year aircraft worker, laid off in Los Angeles.

"I think we're through the roughest period of recessions, but if 800 more miners are laid off we'll have a different story." — A bank credit officer, Butte, Mont.

"A leveling of the boom but no real downturn . . . Unemployment is up but so is employment . . . Iowa is a bright spot . . . The recession hasn't reached here yet . . . When the drought ended a healthy charge shot through our economy . . ." — Bankers and businessmen in Arizona, Florida, Iowa, New Mexico and South Dakota, respectively.

Many Faced Creature
This is a recession, in short, which has many faces. Factory output is down but profits haven't skidded badly. The banking and insurance industries have seldom had it so good. Total consumer income is high, retail sales are holding up well. The utilities are still expanding even while the railroads are depositing pools of jobless men at every division point.

There are cities and a few whole states where the recession has had little effect.

No region has widespread hardship. The bulk of unemployment is clotted in a few great industrial states and in a handful of depressed industries. But the latter reach deep into the mill towns, mountain hamlets and back woods.

Politics In Pennsylvania

By LEONARD A. UNGER
HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. Leader put the power and prestige of his office on the line today in his fight to draft Mayor Richardson Dilworth of Philadelphia as the organization candidate for governor at the May 20 primary.

Party leaders, including Mayor David L. Lawrence, Pittsburgh, and U.S. Rep. William J. Green Jr., Philadelphia chairman, had this blunt notice from the governor as they were called into another state-making conference:

"Any report that I have given up hope that Mayor Dilworth will be a candidate for governor is completely erroneous. I emphatically disavow any such report as absolutely unfounded."

Open To Draft
Dilworth, himself, hinted that he still is open to a draft although he took himself out as a candidate two weeks ago. At Reading Saturday night, Dilworth said there must be a "real demand" for him to run for governor before he resigned as mayor of Philadelphia.

Last night Leader reassured the believed Dilworth "is still interested in running for governor and if so, I'd be happy to support him."

Under the Philadelphia city charter, the mayor must resign immediately should he become a candidate for another office.

The Democratic situation, roughly, adds up to Leader, with the prestige and patronage of the governor's office on one side, and the so-called "old pros" in control of the party machinery, on the other, as regards Dilworth.

The governor, alone, has been considered for the party's nomination for the U.S. senate. But he is opposing the candidacy of Lt. Gov. Roy E. Furman, the only avowed candidate for the gubernatorial nomination.

Leader went into the state-making conferences backing Dilworth as the type of "good government" candidate for governor he would run with for the senatorship. Lawrence also held the same view on Dilworth at the time but cooled off when Dilworth said he favored recognition of Communist China.

Then Dilworth withdrew because of what he termed "lack of unanimity" among party leaders for him. The governor started a "draft Dilworth" movement at last week's candidate conference but ran into a stonewall of opposition from party leaders.

Denie Split
Lawrence denied there was a split with Leader but conceded there was a difference of opinion. Green opposed Dilworth as a candidate from the start.

Lawrence reportedly pushed for James W. Knox, Allegheny County controller, for endorsement as the organization candidate for governor. But Leader listed Dilworth, Atty. Gen. Thomas D. McBride, Lawrence and Sen. Joseph Clark, as candidate for governor he would run with for the senatorship.

Granddaughter May Carry On Tradition
NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—A granddaughter of the late William Jennings Bryan hopes to follow him and her mother to Congress.

Mrs. Rudd Brown, 37, has been endorsed as a candidate by the 21st Congressional District Democratic Council.

Her granddaughter, "the silver tongued orator," was a three-time Democratic candidate for President and once represented Nebraska in the House of Representatives. Her mother, the late Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen Rohde, was twice elected to Congress from Florida and was minister to Denmark.

Mrs. Brown, wife of Harrison Brown, a professor of the California Institute of Technology, has never held elective office. She seeks the seat held by Rep. Edgar W. Hinder (R-Calif.).

WEST CHESTER, Pa. (AP)—Fire caused an estimated $50,000 damage yesterday to a large barn at Foxhill Farm in Unionville nine miles southwest of here.

Thirteen hunting horses in the barn were led to safety by Col. A. A. Fair, farmer and former polo player, who owns the property, his wife and an employee.

Maintain Guard Over Archbishop
BOSTON (AP)—Police maintained a guard over Catholic Archbishop Richard J. Cushing today after a telephoned threat against him.

A man telephoned police yesterday and said: "I'm going to kill the archbishop. I'm also going to blow up the cathedral."

Despite the threat, the archbishop kept speaking engagements in Chelsea and Lowell. In both cities he was under heavy guard.

SPECIAL PROPS ARE TAKEN FOR GRANTED ON TV

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP) — Rain, snow fog, cobwebs, magic lamps and several hundred other things cannot be bought in a store around the corner, yet television viewers take them quite for granted on the home screen.

All those acts of nature and super-natural feats of the imagination you see when viewing CBS-TV programs from New York are the legions of a special department entitled, appropriately enough, Special Effects.

In the words of C. Huntley Rylander, head of the department, "Give us money and time enough and we'll create the desired special effect."

Two Kinds Of Fog
How about a little snow—just in the studio, please?

That's easy for Special Effects. Its technicians merely want to know if you wish wet snow or snow that falls and can be packed into snowballs. Exactly how they do it they decline to say. It's a trade secret. But it sure enough looks like snow.

Then there's fog — two kinds. Aerial mist is created with oil and thin heat. Ground fog is created by using carbon dioxide with steam introduced.

Rain sounds easy, but it's tricky.

"You have only so much water to use," says Jay Fliskin, "and it must fall in a certain place—and silently."

Fliskin was in charge of all the special effects for "Aladdin" — which, he says, had more difficult effects than any show he ever has worked on.

Made Cobwebs
For instance, he and other technicians developed the incredibly complicated machine which caused Aladdin's magic lamp to flare at the precise times ordered in the script.

Fire, underwater scenes, steam — the special effects in "Aladdin" were numerous and complicated. How about those cobwebs in the cave?

Fliskin showed how they were made. First a small skeleton of thin string is built and then it is sprayed with a special compound. Although no one would say that a special effect ever has failed, Rylander put it this way: "We check everything three times. An effect is as foolproof as the man who operates it. And no one ever notices a special effect until it doesn't work."

ACTRESS SAYS FOREIGN SIRENS SHOULD GO HOME

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Foreign sirens, go home" is the blunt cry from domestic beauty Elaine Stewart, who argues Hollywood producers should ignore the Lorcens and Bardots and give American girls a chance.

"What's the matter with our own girls?" asked Miss Stewart. "There are hundreds of girls around Hollywood who have just as much beauty, talent and chest expansion as those foreign dolls," she said. "The producers don't have to go looking all over the world for actresses; they can find them two blocks from the studios."

American Beauty Best
"What is the advantage of getting the those foreigners? To help the foreign film industries? They wouldn't do as much for us. You don't see them hiring Americans. I suppose producers think having foreign stars will help their pictures in foreign countries. That's silly. The foreigners don't care about their own stars; they want to see Americans."

"American beauty is what made Hollywood movies great. Think of Lombard, Loretta Young, Lana Turner, Ginger Rogers. The studios aren't developing anyone like that today; they're going abroad for girls."

Elaine isn't complaining for herself. But she feels for her fellow actresses; she claims they're adding to the ranks of U.S. unemployed.

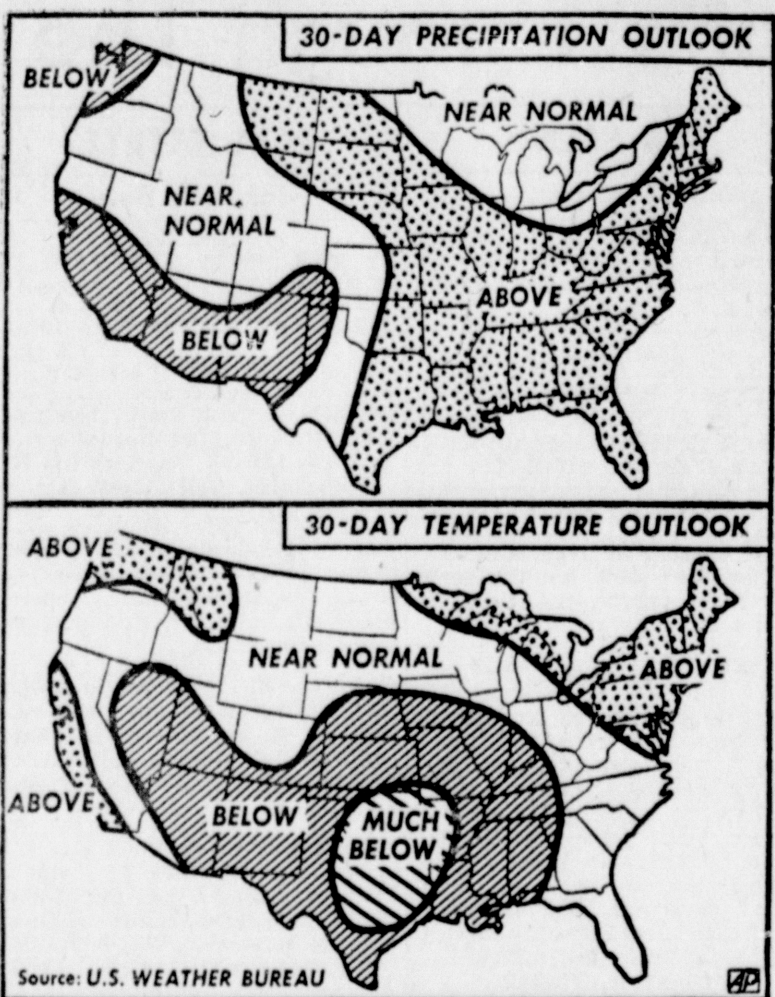

Pouty Hook And Overexposure
What does Brigitte Bardot have, she inquired, besides a pouty look and over-exposure?

"These foreign girls like Bardot and Sophia Loren and Gina Lollobrigida have nothing to offer but chest expansion. Well, we've got girls who can match them inch for inch, and they've got talent, too! Marilyn Monroe can stack up to any of them, and she's a good comedienne as well. I think Jayne Mansfield can beat them, too, not to mention Jane Russell."

"I've done a lot of talking to people around the country on tours," she said. "The audience

HUGE ICE GORGE THREATENS TO CAUSE FLOODS

KITTANNING, Pa. (AP) — Observers kept close watch today on a huge ice gorge that has backed up the Allegheny River several miles north of this Western Pennsylvania town about 45 miles northeast of Pittsburgh.

They stood ready to alert residents of low-lying areas should the crunching jam break suddenly and send flood waters rushing downstream.

The jagged ice mass extends from shore to shore in the mountainous area near Mosgrove to a point below Rimington, about five miles upstream.

Vernon Houghton, chief river forecaster in the Pittsburgh area, spent the night here to study the situation. He said possible flash flooding could occur should the jam break quickly.

Block Some Traffic
Houghton said that in some places ice cakes 15 inches thick had tumbled onto secondary roads near the river, blocking traffic.

Early today on-the-scene observers said the situation seemed improved as the backed up water apparently had cut new channels, allowing a safe runoff.

The ice is located between locks 8 and 9.

Houghton said there would be little possibility of flooding in the Pittsburgh area. Nonetheless, City were closed as a precautionary measure. Flood stage at Pittsburgh is 25 feet. The parking wharves are along the Monongahela River where a crest of about 17 feet was expected later today. The Monongahela and Allegheny Rivers merge into the Ohio River at Pittsburgh.

BANS EXILING IN GUATEMALA

GUATEMALA (AP) — Guatemala's new President, Gen. Miguel Ydigoras Fuentes, took office yesterday with a promise to end the custom of exiling political opponents and seizing their property.

"The political parties that opposed my candidacy can rest assured they will be protected by all the laws and civil rights due them," he declared in his inaugural message.

It was not immediately clear whether the pledge would be retroactive to permit the return of former President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman and members of his Communist-backed regime, who were thrown out in 1954.

Denies Dictatorship
Ydigoras brushed aside charges that he would set up a dictatorship of his own. He dedicated his government "to the furtherance of basic human rights, political philosophies and freedom of the press."

"We propose to terminate the persecution of citizens for their political or religious beliefs," he declared.

Ydigoras gave assurances that U.S. capital investments in Guatemala would be protected.

Ydigoras was elected a month ago for a six-year term.

You can cook a couple of pounds of turnips (peeled and diced) in a half cup of boiling water, adding a teaspoon of salt. Put the covered saucepan over high heat and as soon as steam appears reduce the heat to simmering. If water evaporates before vegetable is tender, add a little more.

'Why Put Beer Can On Moon?': Van Braun

LONDON (AP) — Dr. Werner von Braun, the U.S. Army's rocket expert, says the United States could send a rocket to the moon right now if its objective were merely "putting a beer can on the moon."

"Who wants to put a beer can on the moon?" the German-born scientist said in a British television interview filmed in Washington and aired here. He added that the problem of sending a man into outer space was more challenging but could definitely be accomplished within the next five years.

Von Braun said the United States will send up an improved version of the Explorer satellite "definitely before the end of April" and eventually send up one with a monkey inside to experiment with the reactions of living things to outer space.

MOVIELAND'S BIGGEST RITES FOR HARRY COHN

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Hollywood gave stern Harry Cohn the biggest funeral in movieland history.

The movie czar — his rule on Columbia's lot was as absolute as any monarch's — was entombed yesterday after rites attended by 1,500 of Hollywood's great and near great.

The turnout belied the legend that Cohn had built up about himself — a legend of fear and iron-fisted autocracy. The mourners included some of his most famous adversaries.

On Sound Stage

The setting was unusual—even for Hollywood. Cohn's funeral was held on Sound Stage 12 on the Columbia lot. It was fitting — a monument that he had built for himself.

As Danny Kaye said in the eulogy: "This (sound stage) was Harry Cohn's cathedral. This is where the fierceness of the flame that was within him burned some and warmed others."

Fit For A Movie King

The services were nondescript. An organ played and a girl sang and another comic — Danny Thomas — delivered the only prayer. The only clergyman present was a Catholic priest there to comfort Mrs. Cohn and the three children, members of his parish. Cohn was born of Jewish parentage.

The 66-year-old Cohn, victim of a heart attack last Thursday, lay in state under the torch trademark that appears on Columbia pictures. His casket was surrounded by banks of flowers that, if stretched out, would have completely covered a football field.

EX-SEN. PHIPPS EXPIRES AT 95

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lawrence C. Phipps, 95, an associate of Andrew Carnegie in the steel business and a former U.S. senator from Colorado, died Saturday night.

He was 18 when he joined the Carnegie company in Pittsburgh as a millhand. When it merged with U.S. Steel in 1900 he was one of its top executives. He was only 38 when he retired to Denver as one of the largest individual stockholders in the newly formed giant of the steel industry.

He was elected to the Senate in 1918, re-elected in 1924. Since 1931 he had devoted himself to his business investments.

Two Escapees Are Caught On Sunday

DANVILLE, Pa. (AP) — Two escapees from the Montour County Jail were captured last night near Sunbury, about 12 miles from here.

State police were questioning the two and declined immediately to give the circumstances of the capture.

The two escapees are Raymond C. Wydra, 25, of Danville, and Clifton G. Briggs, 21, of Carthage, R. 2, N. Y.

Authorities said they broke out of jail Friday night by prying off a metal window sill and using it as a battering ram to break a wire mesh window screening.

Both had been convicted of burglarizing a Danville tavern in January.

KOHLER STRIKE MAY BRING NEW LEGISLATION

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators investigating violence in the marathon strike against the Kohler Co. said today one result may be federal legislation dealing with mass picketing.

Sen. McClellan (D-Ark), chairman of the Senate Rackets Committee, told newsmen it may wish to consider "whether it is an improper labor practice that should be dealt with by legislation."

Sen. Mundt (R-SD), a committee member, said in a separate interview that testimony about mass picketing at the Kohler plant by United Auto Workers strikers "probably will lead to demands for legislation."

Cites "Use Of Force"

Mundt said his concern was with the "use of force" to prevent a person from entering a plant — not just with pickets who stand outside a plant and shout derisively at workers who enter.

Mundt said testimony already taken about mass picketing at the plant shows "the use of raw force" and added that such mass picketing was illegal under Wisconsin law.

However, Harvey Kitzman, a UAW regional director in Milwaukee, denied in testimony last Friday that the union had engaged in an illegal type of picketing at the plant of the Wisconsin manufacturer of plumbing fixtures.

Sons, Lawrence, Allan and Gerald Phipps, all of Denver; and three daughters, Mrs. William White of Haverford, Pa., and Mrs. Van Holt Garrett and Mrs. Donald Bromfield of Denver. Funeral services will be conducted in Denver Wednesday.

SAYS GOP HAS TOUGH JOB TO WIN U. S. SENATE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Cotton (R-NH), newly chosen to the GOP Senatorial Campaign Committee, said today Republicans have a tough job ahead in trying to win control of the Senate.

GOP leaders have picked Cotton to replace Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Maine), who resigned from the committee.

"It would be foolish to evade the fact that we are up against a tough campaign, with the breaks going against us," he said. "I am not hauling down the flag or conceding defeat, but this is obviously not one of our good years. We've got our work cut out for us."

Do Well Holding Own

Chairman Schoeppel (R-Kan) of the campaign committee said in Miami, Fla., that the GOP, now outnumbered 49-47 by the Democrats in the Senate, will do well to hold its own.

Schoeppel said he was not going to dispute the result of checks he said had indicated "we will have difficulty in carrying the Senate this year."

He said in a local television interview some GOP candidates "simply are not going to take the same position as the President and his advisers" on some issues. To do so, he said, "would be detrimental in some states."

Sees Democrat Gains

Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass) predicted in Los Angeles that the Democrats will capture Republican seats in California, Nevada, Arizona and Wyoming.

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) said he expects a Democratic landslide.

Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler predicted a member of his party will win the seat being vacated by Republican Sen. Jenner of Indiana. Butler made his forecast in saying he will not seek his party's nomination for the seat, but will continue as national chairman.

SALISBURY, Md. (AP) — Reynolds Augustine 32, Linwood, Pa., and Peter Manuskay, 57, Eddystone, Pa., were reported in "slightly improved" condition today at Peninsula General Hospital where they are recovering from automobile crash injuries suffered Thursday night.

Their car collided with another auto driven by a Maryland man.

The Church of Sweden Assembly in Stockholm recently voted, 62 to 36, against the proposal to permit women to become ordained ministers.
